throngs who delight in such amusements. We generally form an opinion of the life within a fair ground, by the stir without, and having our the canal bridge, we were not disappointed when rade grounds, north of Fair Grounds, for drill we gained the ground.

We have already spoken of the show of stock being very superior. All the neighboring counties are well represented, and a survey of the stalls and pens will richly pay for the time it takes to make the round.

The Agricultural Hall, where is deposited the products of the tillage of the farm, the garden. the orehard and dairy, together with specimens fine, exceeding anything o, the kind we have ever had here. The pumpkins, melons, beets, cabbages, potatoes and every other variety of vegetables are numerous and large. We were particularly taken with a lot of Irish potatoes, from Hendricks county, exhibited by Mr. Barnes and Mr. Marvel. There were several different varieties, and all superier. Of the "peach bloom," a beautiful potatoe, one of those gentlebushels and three pecks to the acre. An immense stump puller is here also, harnessed to a stump and ready to draw.

The Horticultural Hall, under the charge of Mr. Harlin, is well filled. Apples, pears and grapes, are abundant and very fine. The greatest variety of grapes that came under our observation was exhibited by Dr. Mears, of this city.

The Miscellaneeus Hall, where a little of evesything pretty is to be found, tastefully arranged attention to the advertisement of Rev. L. G.
